

ICNC-Rutgers Course Learning Gains Graphs

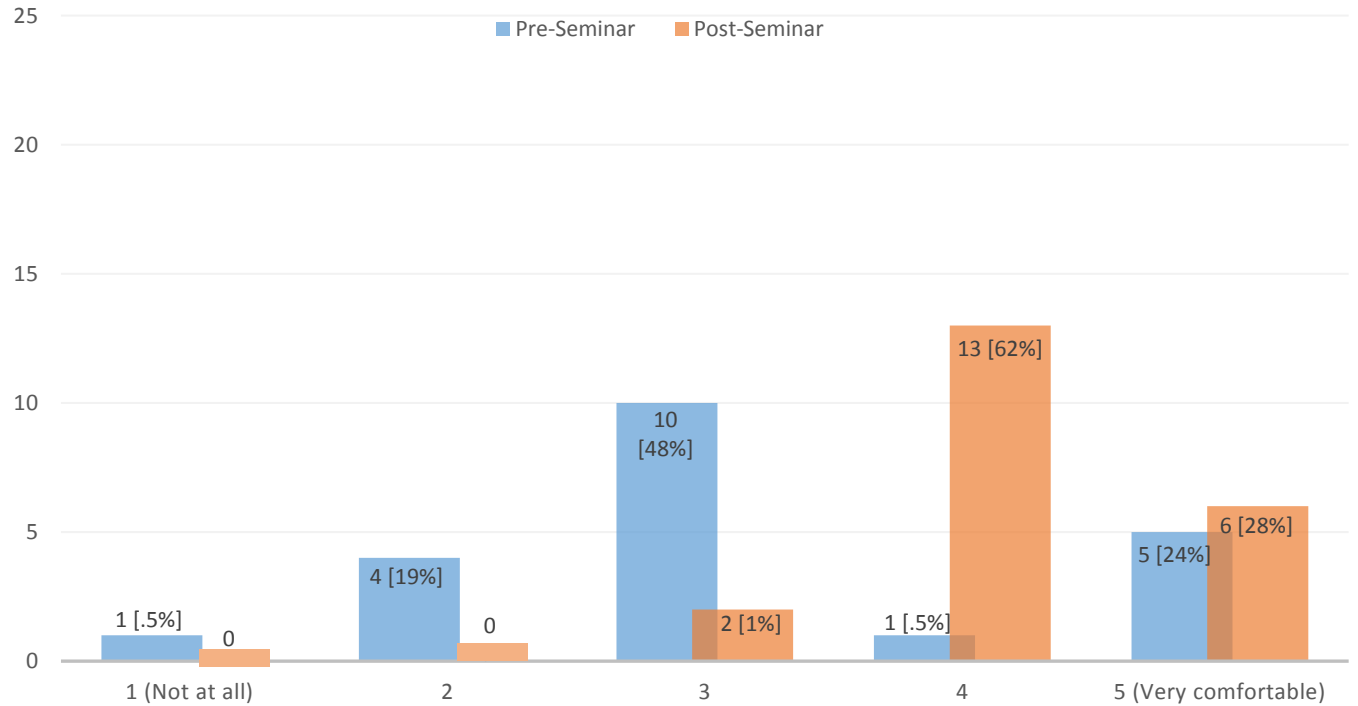

The graphs below are from ICNC-Rutger's People Power online course. 21 total participants completed both the pre and post learning gains surveys.

1. On the scale below, select the number that best represents your current knowledge of civil resistance or nonviolent movements

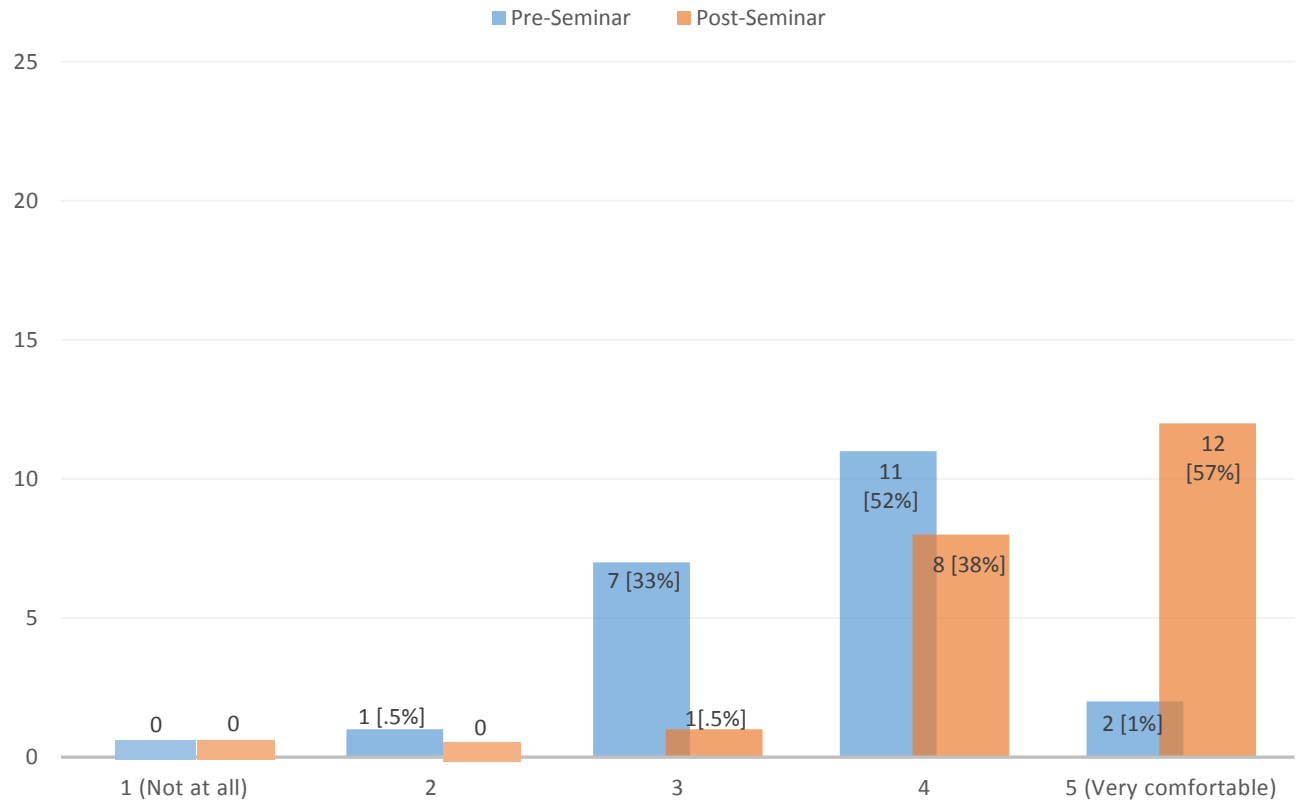

■ Pre-Seminar ■ Post-Seminar

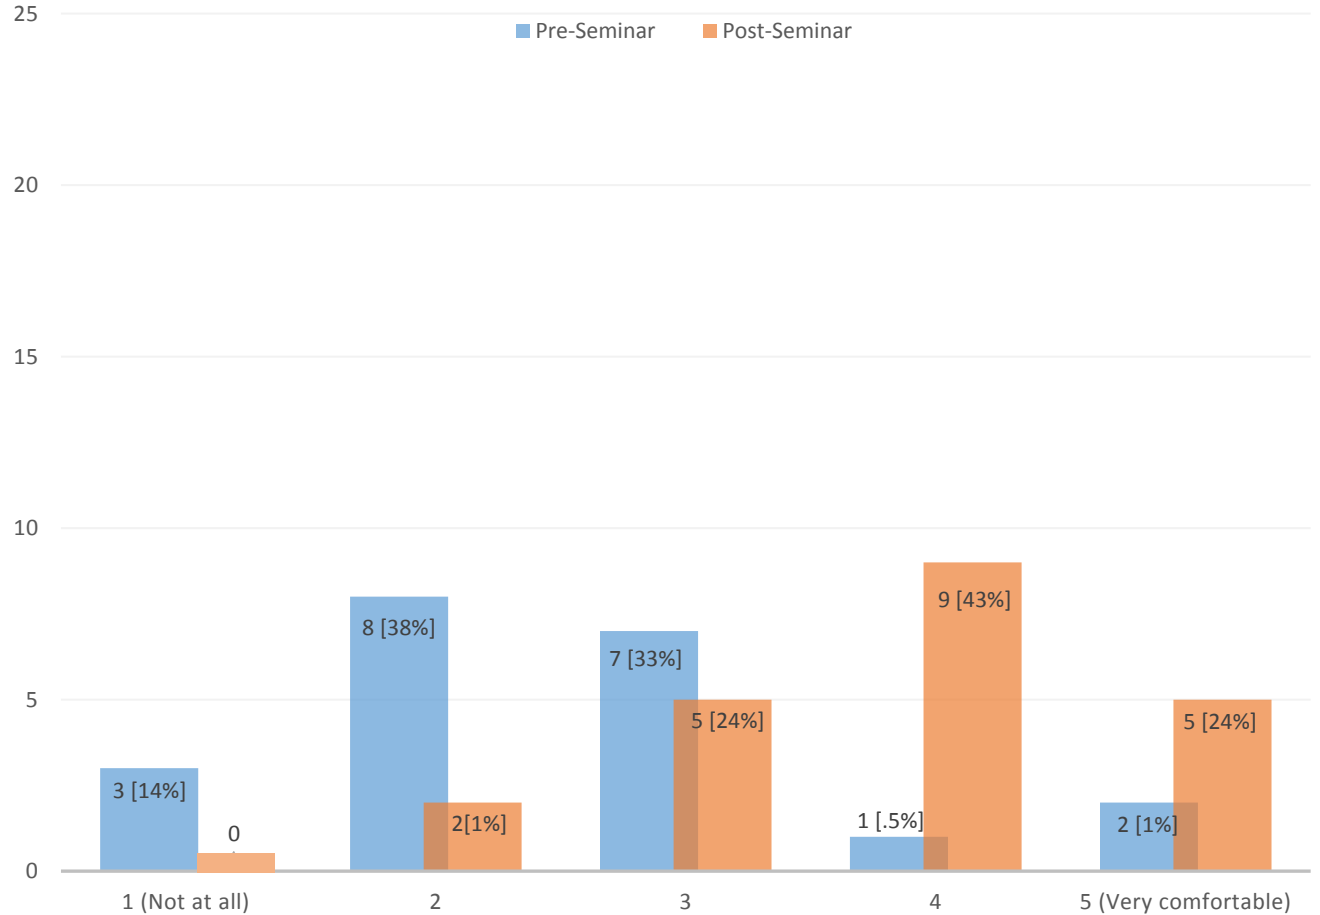

2. On the scale below, identify your comfort level in speaking to others about civil resistance or nonviolent movements.

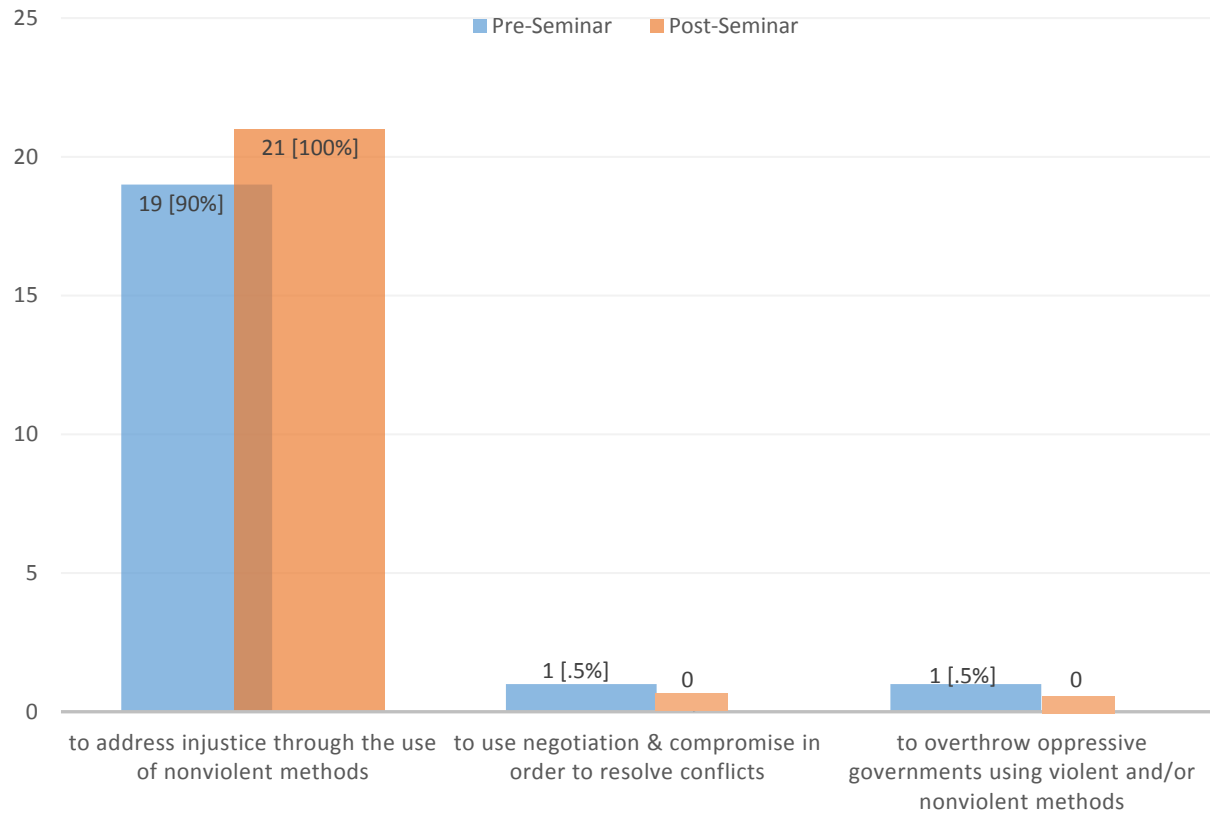

3. On the scale below, identify your comfort level in participating in civil resistance or in a nonviolent movement

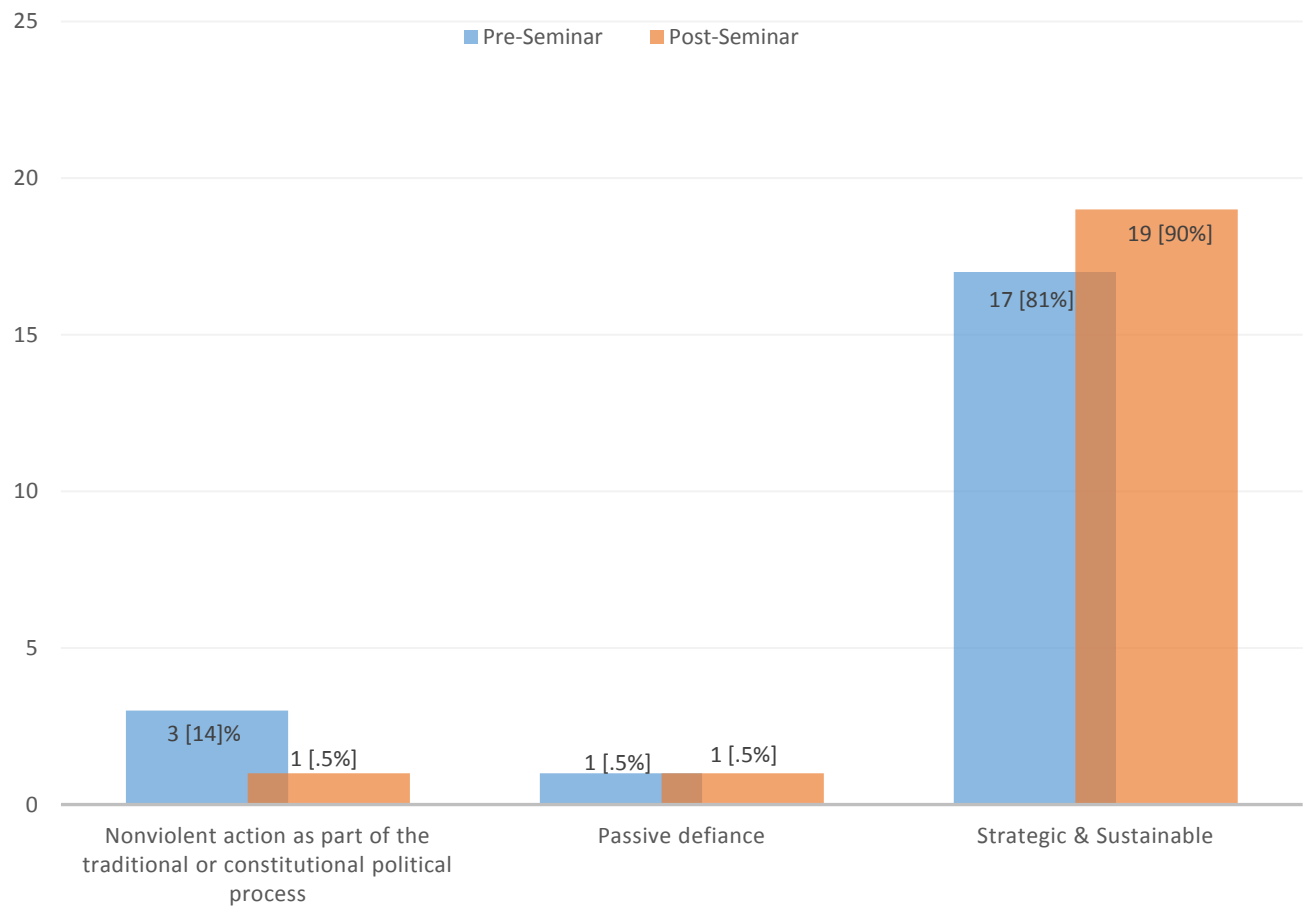

4. On the scale below, identify your comfort level in leading civil resistance actions as part of a nonviolent campaign/movement

5. The primary objective of civil resistance is...

6. What are the main dynamics of effective civil resistance?

7. On the scale below, select the number that best represents your view that revolutions against brutal regimes can succeed ONLY if revolutionaries retain the option to use violent means.

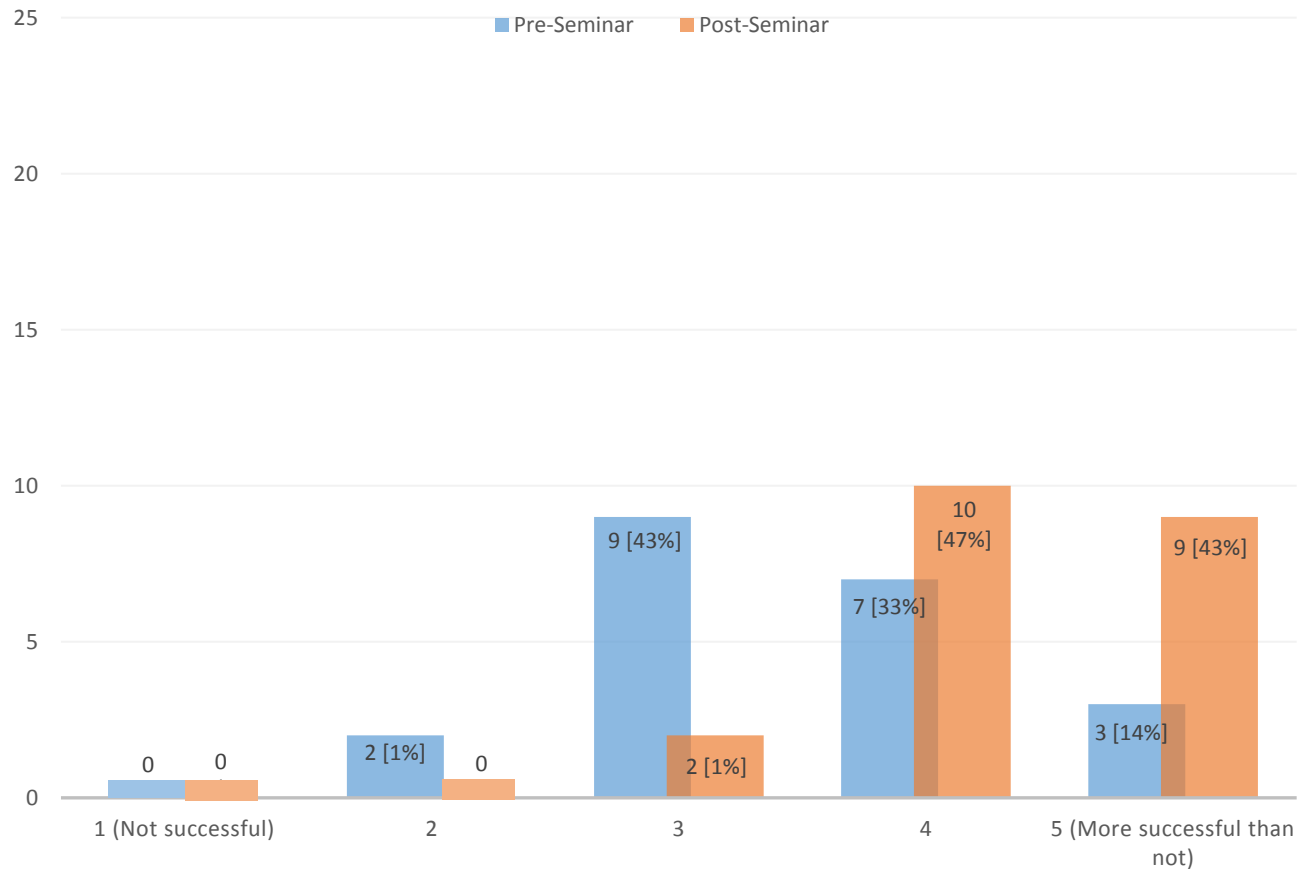

8. On the scale below, select the number that best represents your view that protests, marches, and demonstrations are the ONLY civil resistance methods.

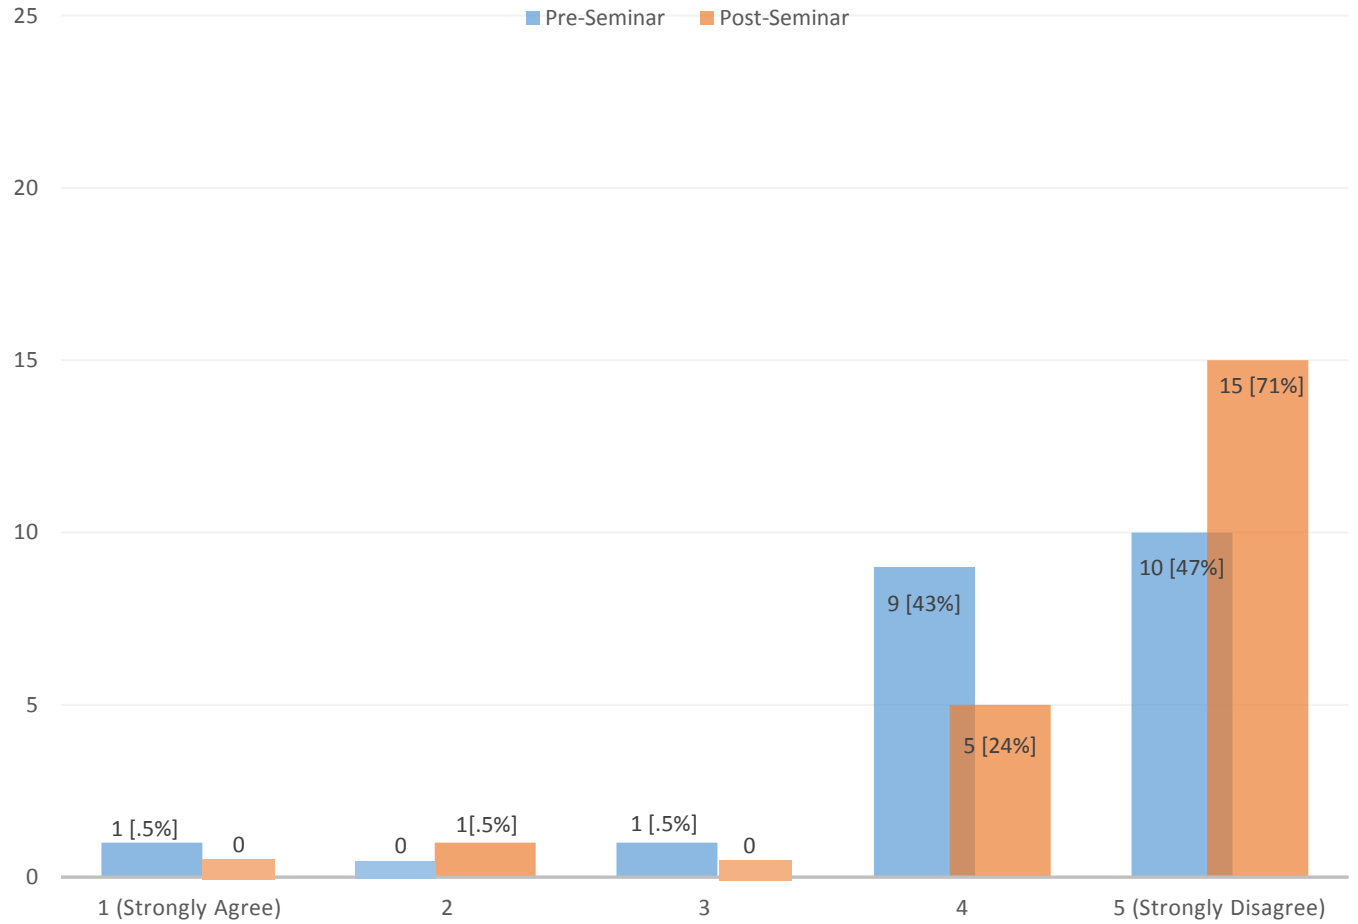

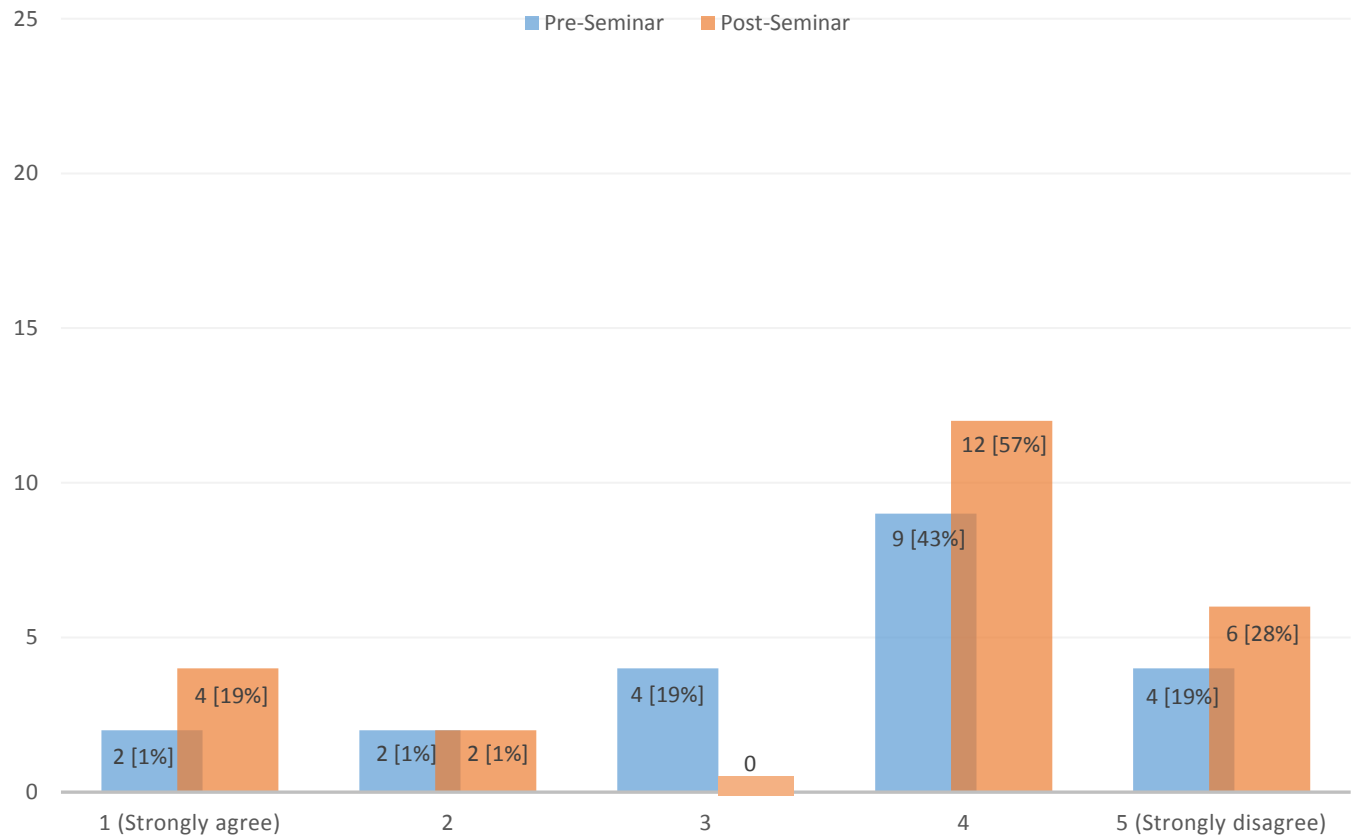

9. On the scale below, select the number that best represents your view on how successful you think civil resistance campaigns against repressive states have been in the past.

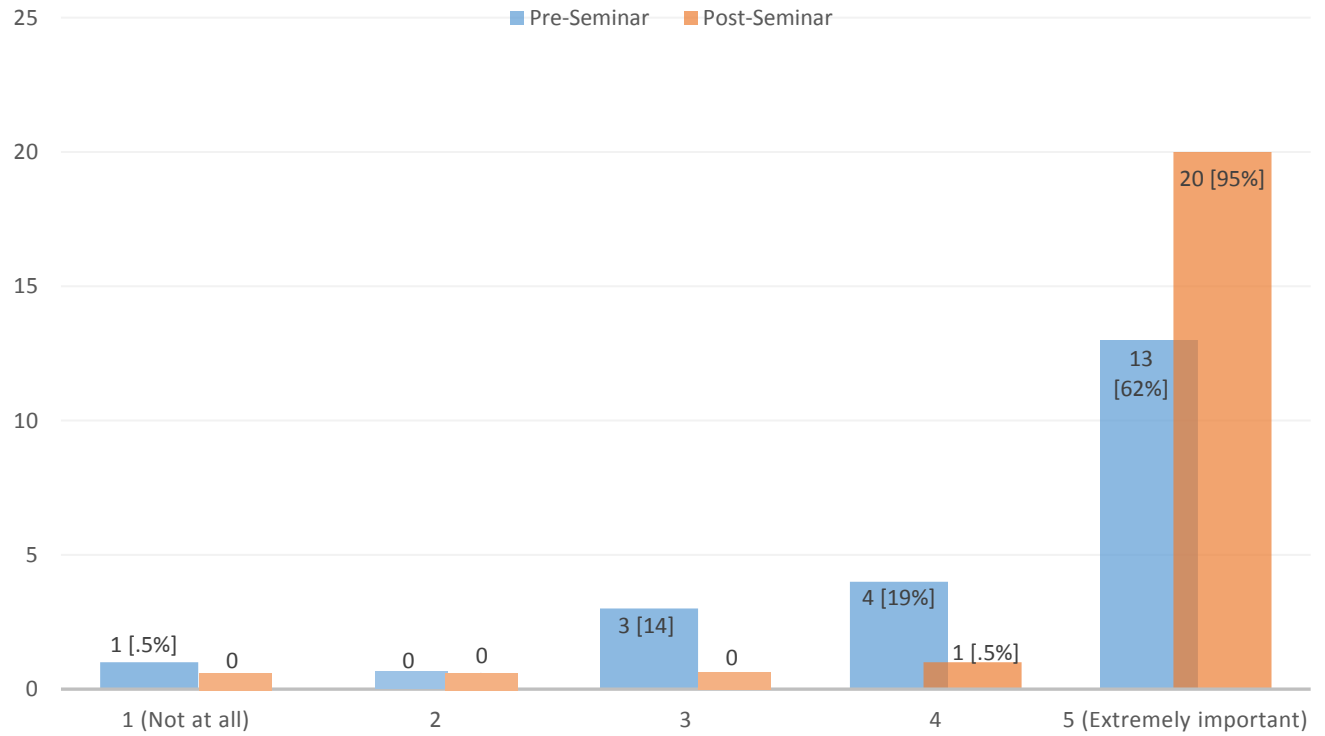

10. On the scale below, select the number that best represents your view that movements that face repression must fail.

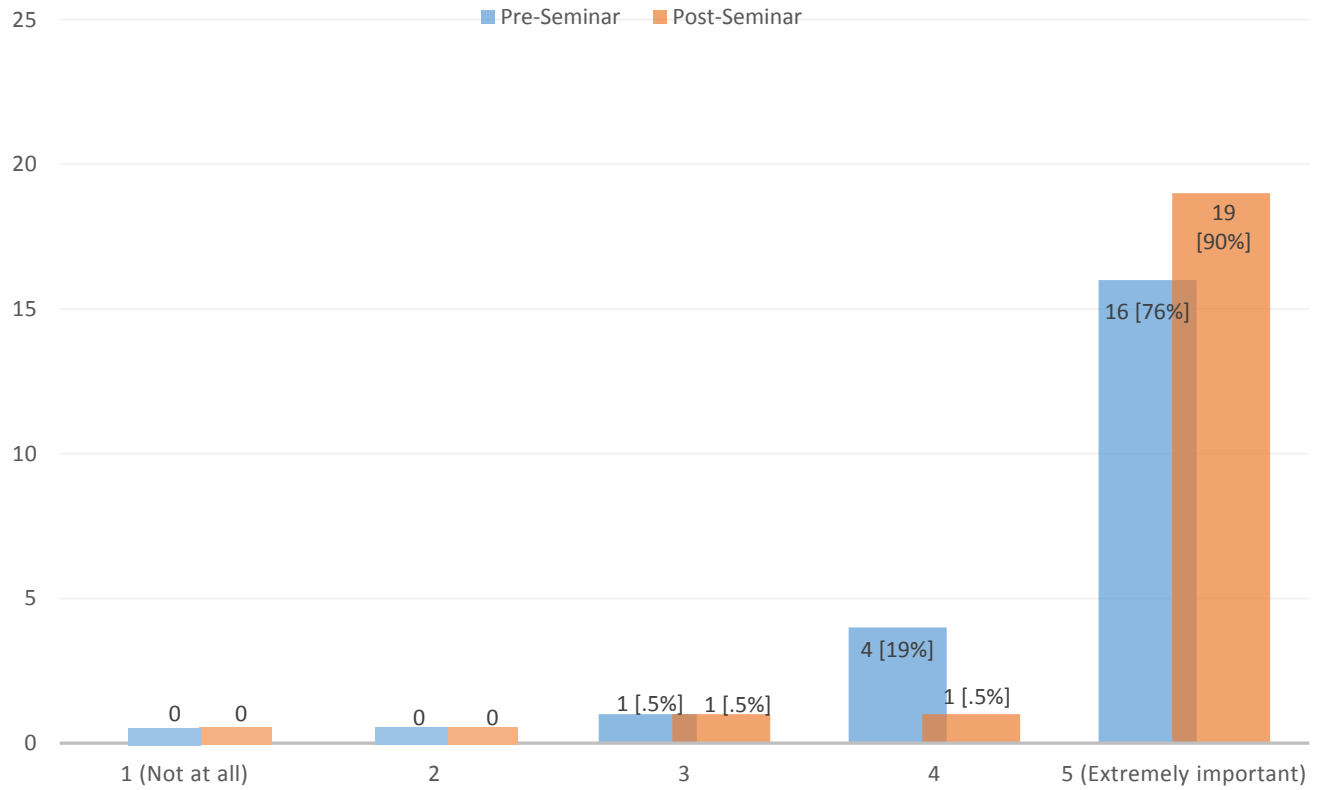

11. On the scale below, select the number that best represents your view that in order to be successful nonviolent movements must receive support from external actors, have access to the Internet, or face a regime that is weak and divided.

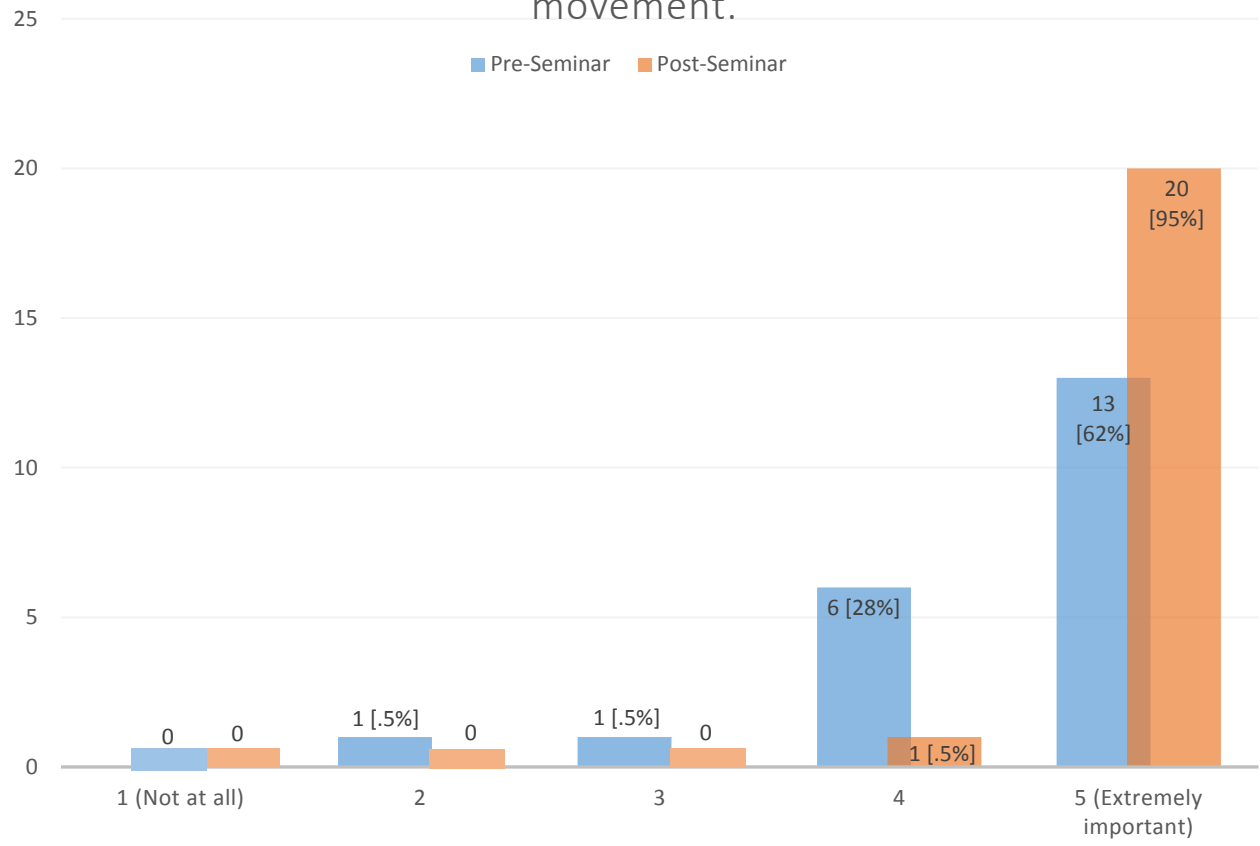

12. On the scale below, select the number that best represents your view about how important you think strategic planning is in a successful civil resistance movement.

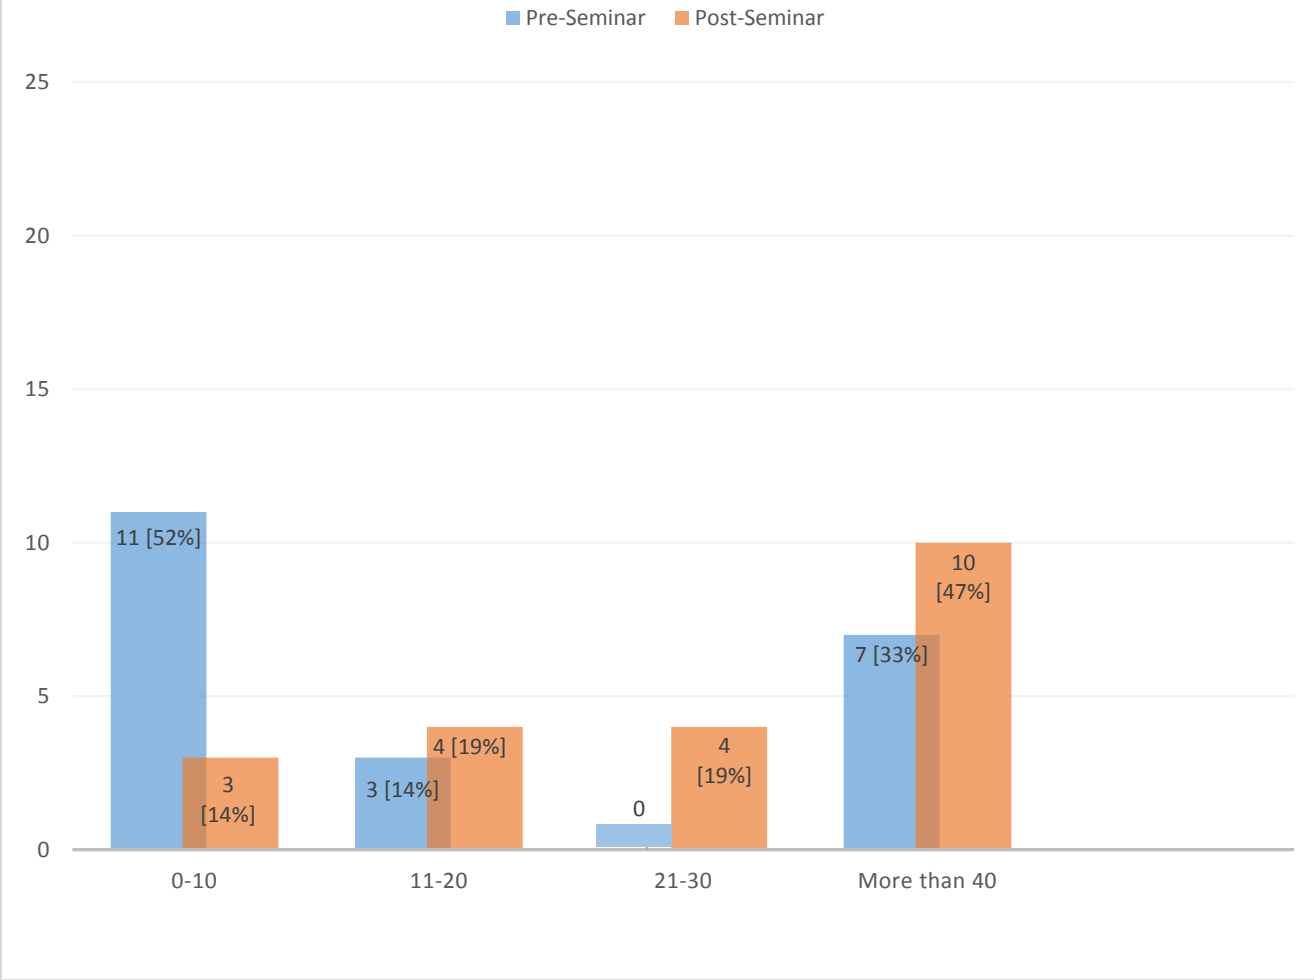

13. On the scale below, select the number that best represents your view about how important you think participation is in a successful civil resistance movement.

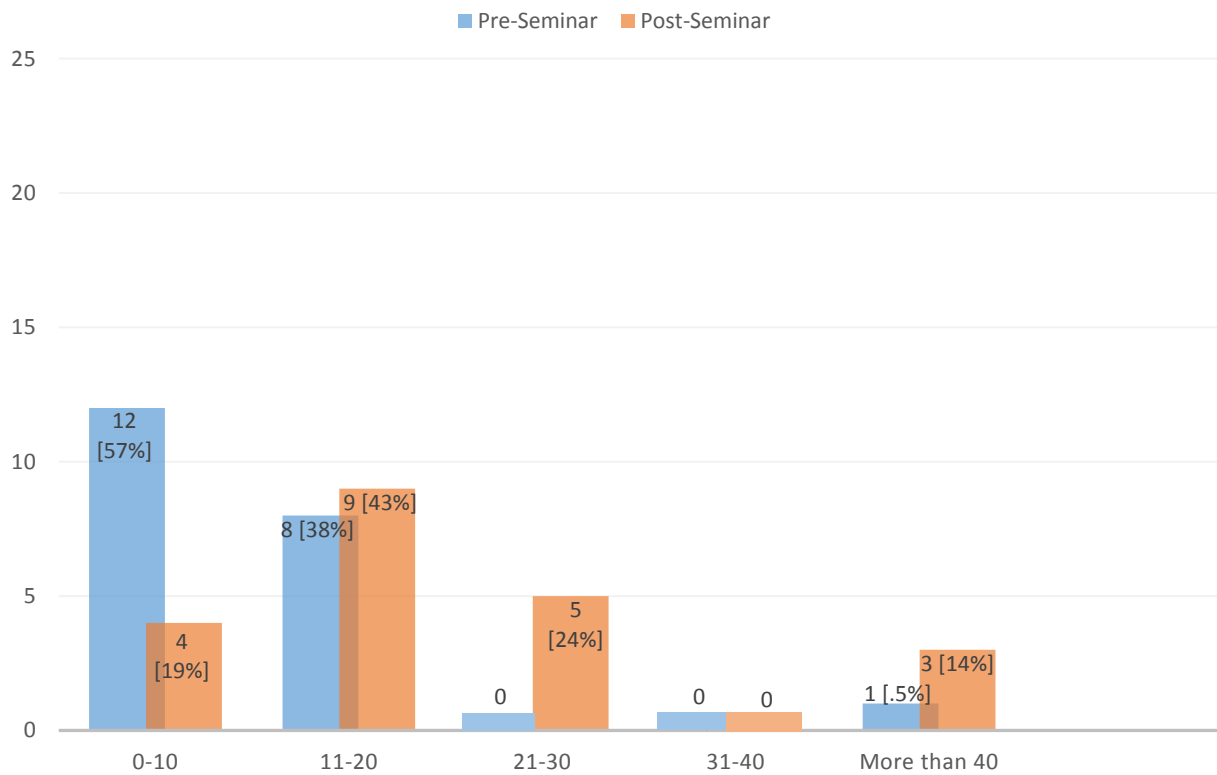

14. On the scale below, select the number that best represents your view about how important you think nonviolent discipline is in a successful civil resistance movement.

15. How many civil resistance strategies and tactics do you know of?

17. How many nonviolent civil resistance movements do you know of?

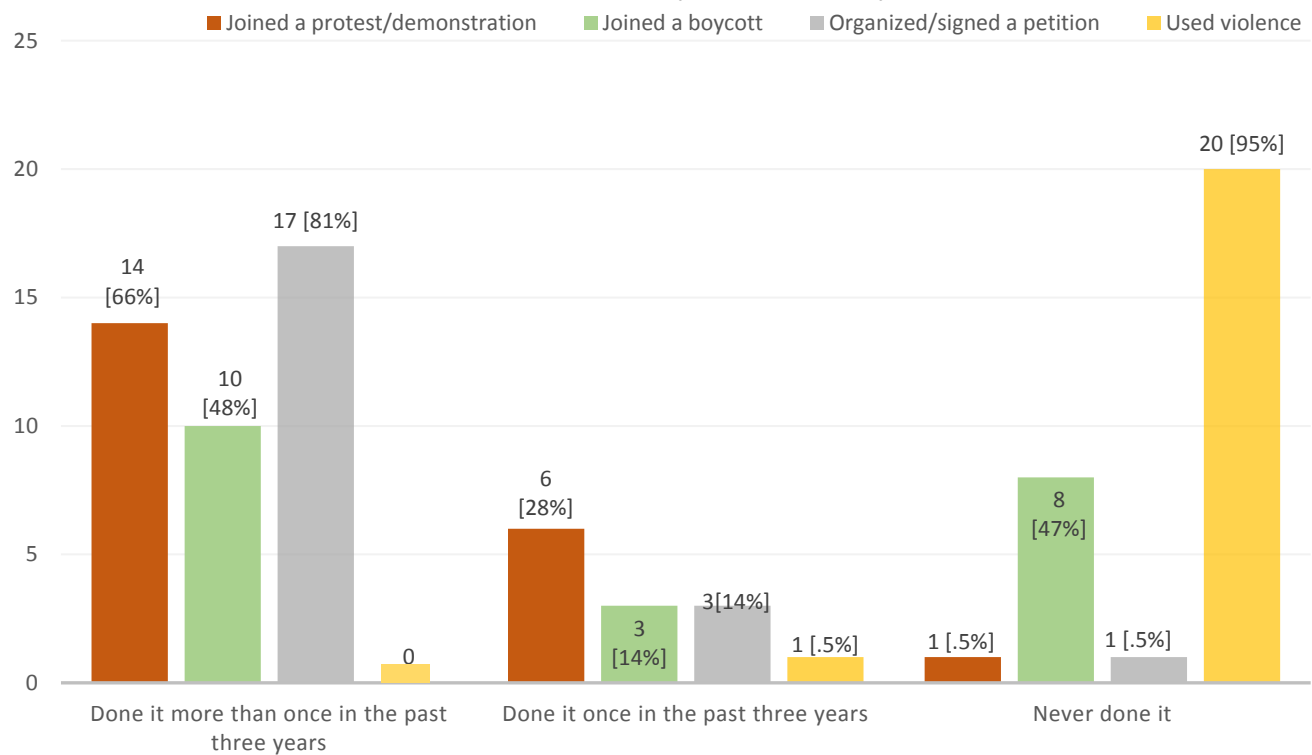

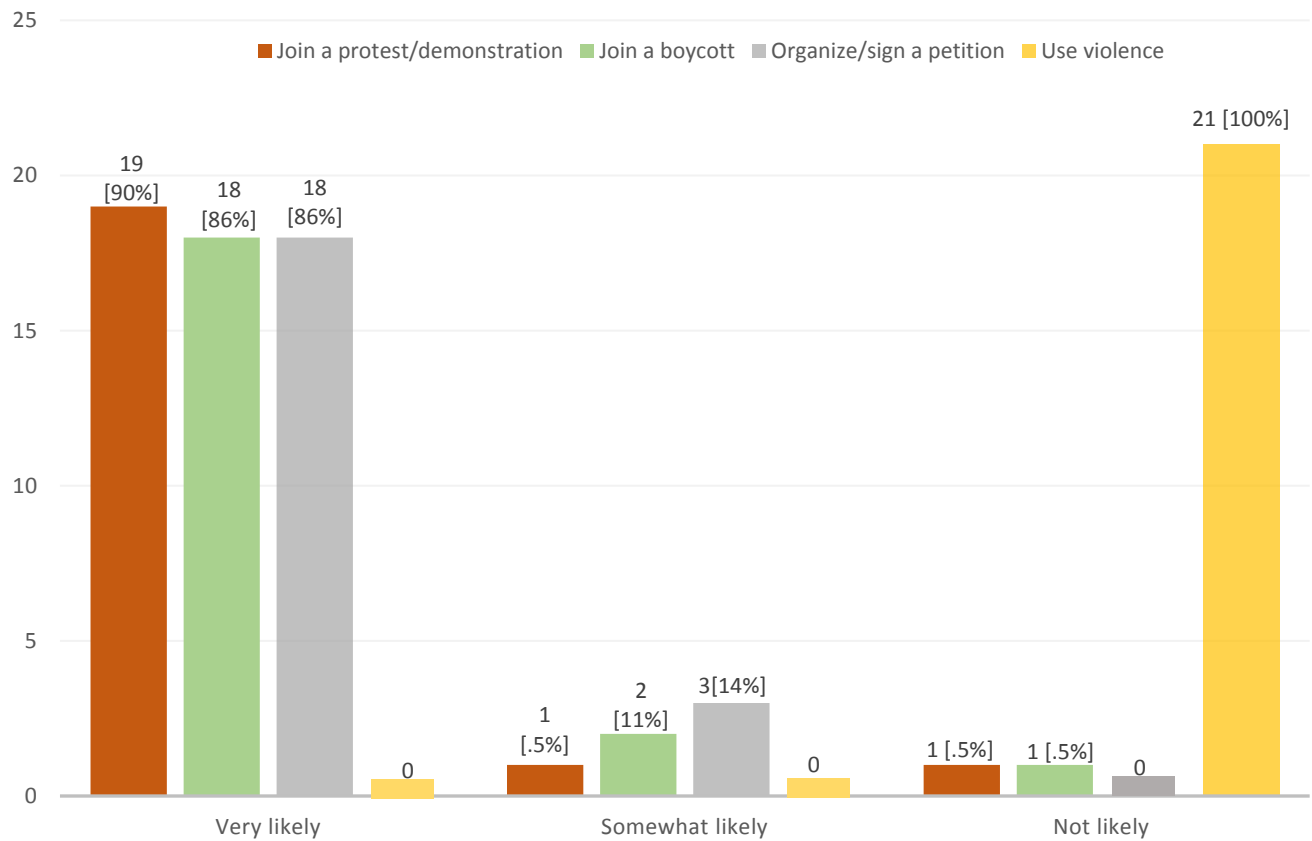

19. Do you think that nonviolent civil resistance is more effective than violent resistance against repressive regimes?

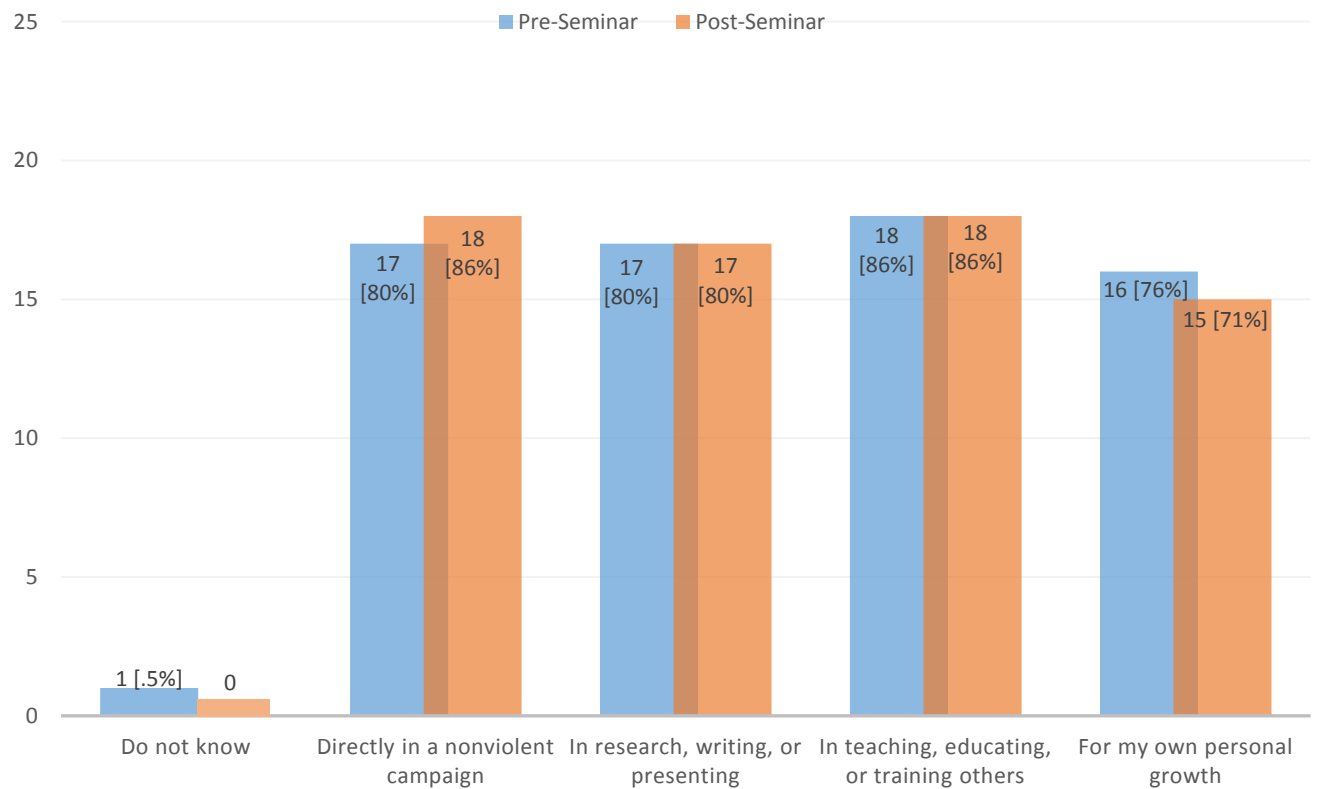

20. [Pre-Seminar only] For each of the actions listed below, please indicate if you have personally never done it, if you have done it once, or if you have done it more than once in the past three years

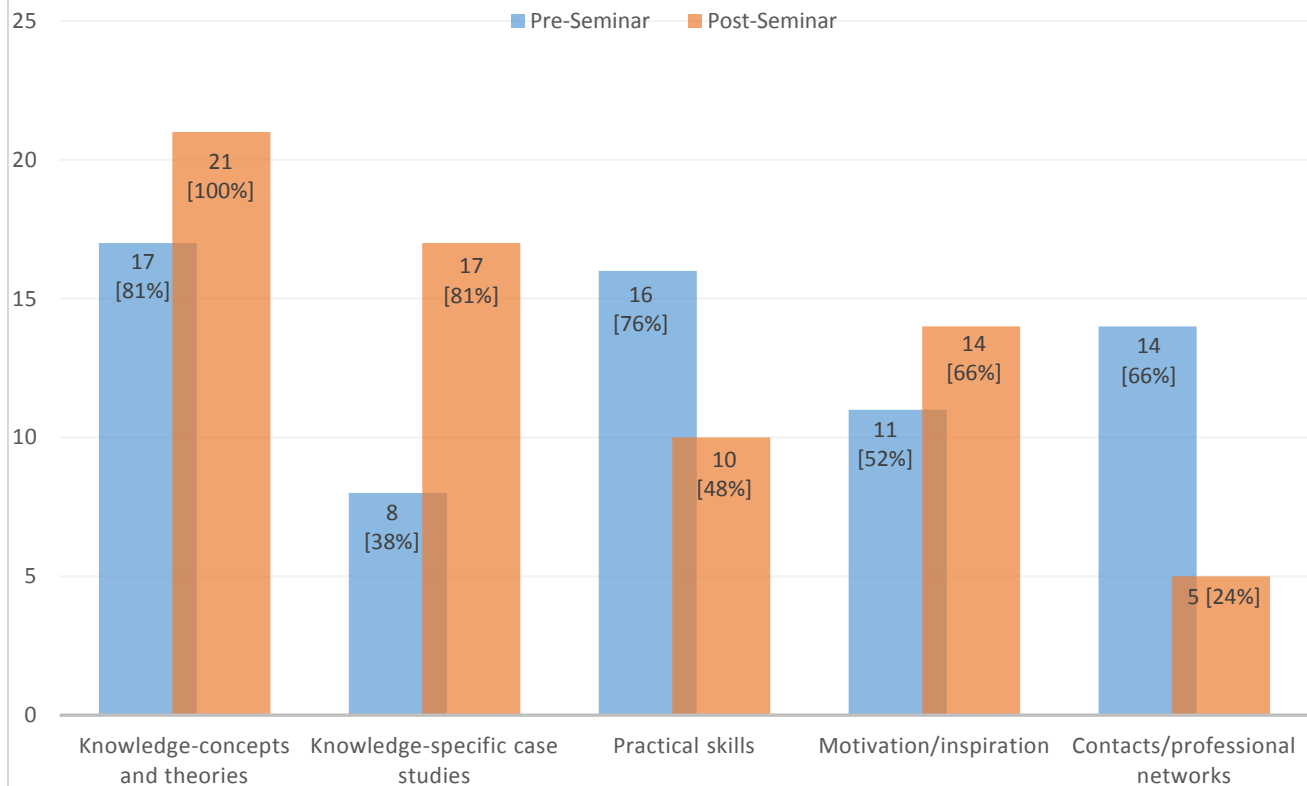

20. [Post-Seminar only]After completing the course, how likely are you to engage in the activities below?

21. How do you envision applying the knowledge that you gained from this course? (Participants could choose multiple answers)

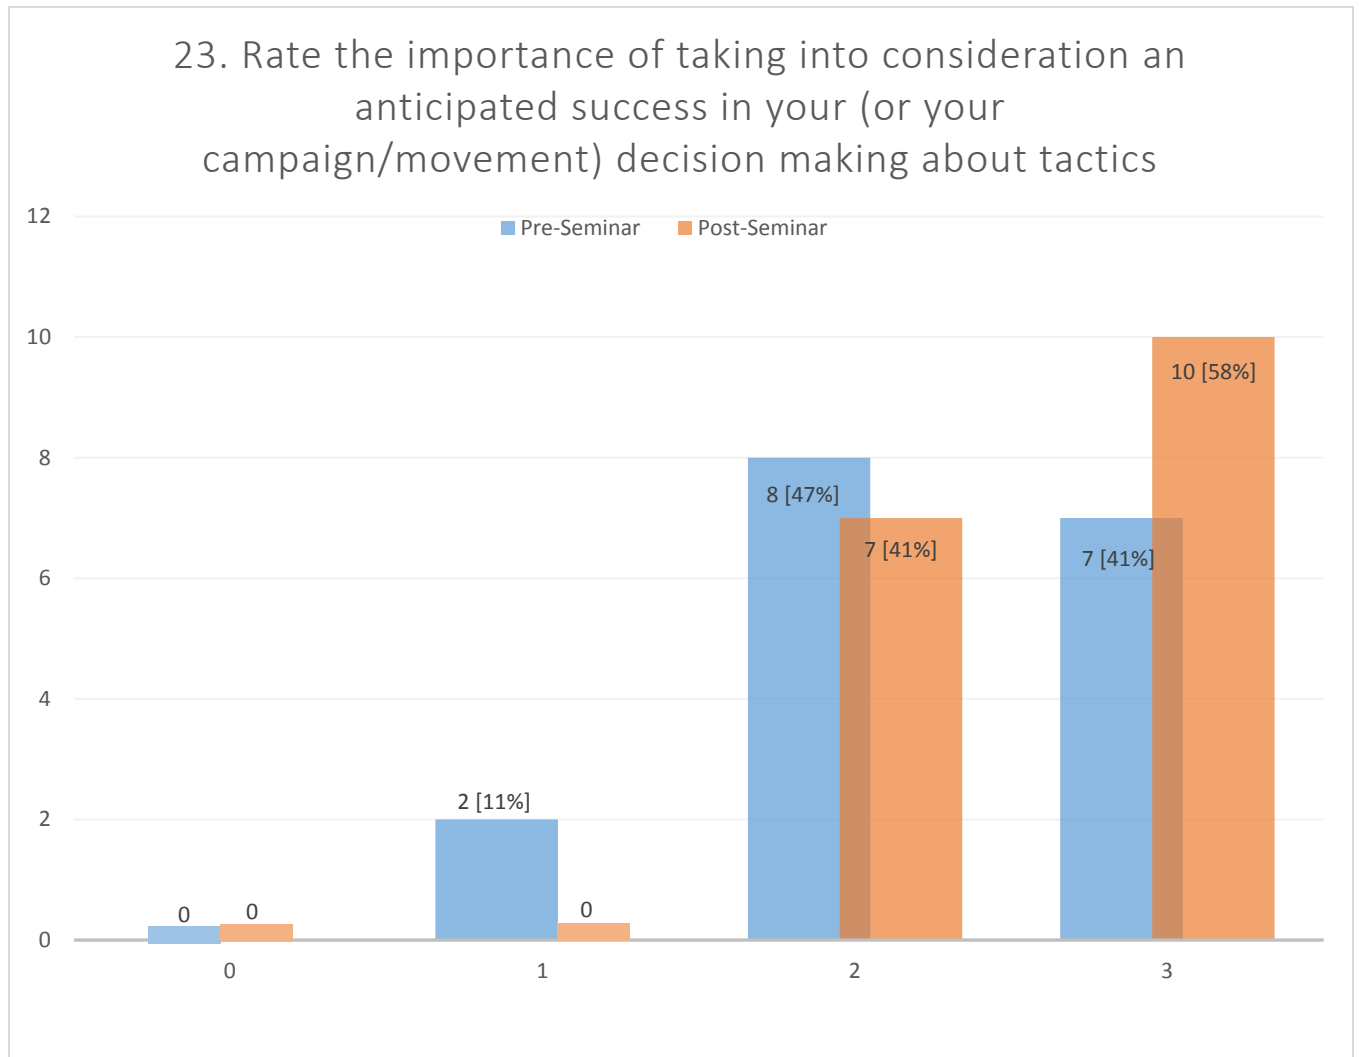

22. What are the three most important things you hope to gain from this course/gained from this course?
(Participants could choose multiple answers)

FOR ACTIVISTS ONLY:

17 respondents identified as activists and completed the following questions.

24. Rate the importance of taking into consideration fear of repression in your (or your campaign/movement) decision making about tactics

25. Rate the importance of taking into consideration what tactics other organizations are using in your (or your campaign/movement) decision making about tactics

26. Rate the importance of having an access to materials in your (or your campaign/movement) decision making about tactics

27. Rate the importance of taking into consideration the likely number of participants in your (or your campaign/movement) decision making about tactics

